During the COVID-19 pandenic, many experts have discussed the presence of God in virtual During the COVID-19 pandenic, many experts have discussed the presence of God in virtual or the control of the three is no tolicities than the resence of God in the virtual communities in the home of congregation counters, during the COVID-19 pandenic from a tabilical perspective. The problem is, is three a strong biblical bask that supports the west that God is present in the Eucharistic celebration which is practiced virtually by the pastor in the church without a physical presence of the congregation. This issue will be enabled based to share it is share with the analysed based on John it. 2:12-4. The research method used to solve this problem is a qualitative research method by collecting library data from both books and Journals. Through this disseasion, the author will offer a new biblical theological perspective on the presence of God, which trunscends the limits of time and place in virtual Eucharistic initiality. All thesis is that God is Spirit the cannot be limited by space and time. He is free to be present wherever He wishes. This article ends with a conclusion
